

Ideas to get yourself ready for A level Spanish

Here are some ideas to cover listening, reading, grammar & speaking. Any of these can be used to do translations too. The more practice you do the better – though we recommend that you work in several 20-minute sessions to give yourself time to absorb what you've learned, rather than sitting at one task for an hour at this stage.

Languages Online

Go to <https://languagesonline.org.uk> and click on Espanol from the menu on the left.

Scroll down the page to the Quick Links menu shown below:

The Grammar section is highly recommended, but you can also work through any of the exercises in the other sections. If you look at Caminos 1, 2 and 3 you will see that they start at a very basic level and work up to GCSE, but they are brilliant for refreshing your understanding and filling any gaps in your knowledge

Music: Listen to any Spanish language music, see what you can understand or read the lyrics (Youtube is particularly good for this)

Netflix - watch some Spanish language TV series – the following are particularly recommended:

- ELITE
- La Casa de Papel (Money Heist),
- Las Chicas del Cable (Cable Girls).

Facetime someone from your old Spanish class and have a quick 5-minute chat to keep in touch and practise your speaking.