WHAT'S IT ALL ABOUT THEN?

The civilisations of Ancient Greece and Rome are arguably the foundations of modern western society and this course at SCG covers the literature and culture of the Roman and Greek worlds. This is a very varied course taught by specialist teachers. You'll study the myths, literature, history, politics, art and architecture, philosophy and the way people lived in Greece and Rome. You should have an interest in Greek and Roman history and society.

"I loved Classical Civilisation . It helped me tremendously"

Ex A level student Lee McAteer (Now Associate Director of Tranmere Rovers !)

WHICH MODULES WILL I STUDY?

Homer's Odyssey – We learn about the gods and the general myths surrounding the siege of the city of Troy. Odysseus is a hero who helped get inside Troy by building a wooden horse. He angers the god Poseidon by blinding his son, the Cyclops and so is punished on the way home. We read Homer's epic story in English and find out about the way the Heroic society in Greece functioned.

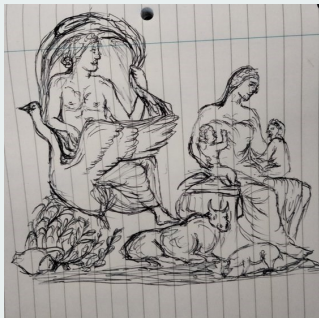

Imperial Image – In 44BC Julius Caesar was assassinated. No one expected his 18-year-old grandnephew, Octavian to become the next ruler. Young, inexperienced and with plenty of opposition, Octavian became Emperor Augustus. We study some of the historical events of his Principate and look at how his image needed to change from warrior to man of peace.

Virgil's Aeneid – The war at Troy was a disaster for the Trojans and according to legend, one man, Aeneas escaped and sailed to Italy. His son was called Lulus who was an ancestor of Julius Caesar. This epic story tells the tale of Aeneas' escape from Troy and eventual arrival in Italy where he battles Italian tribes for supremacy.

Democracy and the Athenians – In the 5th BC a new form of government, democracy, was born. Or was it?! We study the reasons that Athens developed this new form of government, what it meant to them and whether it really was democracy. This is a study of history, politics, comedy, and Athenian Society.

WHATS MY SUMMER HOMEWORK?

- 1) LEARN the names of the Greek and Roman gods for a test the first day you come to class!
- 2) Make a god or a temple associated with a Greek god and TAKE A PICTURE to show me on the first day back. It can be ANYTHING associated with a Greek god and made in any way you want! Be as creative as you like. It has to be something YOU make.

eg

- Plasticine/Clay/Papier mache gods !
- Draw a cartoon or comic telling the story of a god and mortal
- Make a short youtube video of a story of a god with Playmobil or get your friends into a bedsheet toga and make a video
- Make a poster of the gods
- Paint a picture of a god
- 3D print a god and paint it
- Knit me a god!
- Do a tapestry or cross stitch of a Greek god
- Do some research on a Greek Temple dedicated to a god looked like and build it with boxes/toilet rolls
- Do some research on a Greek Temple and make one in Minecraft!

Choose an idea from above or make something up yourselves – not sure or need reassurance that your idea is the best ever?

"I didn't do Classical Civilisation at GCSE, but it looked really interesting at the College open day. It is a great mix of English, Drama and History. I want to do Classics at Durham University. I came to SCG because there were better subject choices, which were flexible. I feel more independent here and it is a nice step between school and university. I really enjoy looking at Greek comedy."
